

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Since his early childhood, Dr. David C. Kolbaba has pursued “a life filled with adventures.” Even now, he often says, “I’m like the kid at the carnival—I’m here to go on all the rides! And maybe just maybe, I’ll go on some of them twice!” Making his life an adventure has served him well as a natural healthcare practitioner, his career and joy for over forty years. Why natural health? “To ultimately become,” he says, “the doctor I never found.”

He has one overall goal for his patients: to help them get to a place they may never have reached had they not come into his therapeutic care. To him, regaining optimal health is about rebuilding each patient’s trust and faith in their body, using a more natural approach.

For over forty years, he has hosted HealthQuest Radio, a popular health, news, and science show in Chicago, helping listeners get to a place they may never have gotten to had they not heard a particular radio show.

Its credo? “Make your life an adventure in health, not one in sickness or disease.”
